

Papillon

Keeping one knee on the floor or bed and the other stretched out like a runner at the blocks, the woman then draws her partner up to her with a hand under his lower back while turning her hips and thrusting her pelvis. Lying backwards on his chest gives him the chance to caress her breasts and vagina. This is known as the Butterfly. Steve McQueen and Dustin Hoffman never even thought about it, but then they had other things on their mind.

Horse riding

Imagine a horse with a penis on its back. Or a surf board with the same accessory. Now you have the idea. The man lies on his back with the woman astride on his penis. She is in control and can rock backwards and forwards. For him he can lie back and enjoy. The surf's up, as they say.

Hot pants on a hot seat

This is the ultimate fantasy for a woman who likes to pass water while making love. The man lies on his back with his legs drawn to his chest. She then sits on top of his penis and buttocks. She can now hold his testicles while he supports her waist. Golden Showers all round folks, don't forget to change the sheets.

Monkey business

Like whales, monkeys have sex in lots of different ways including gay sex. Not weighing 24 tons is an advantage for having sex in trees, along with not having a hole in the top of their heads. People are not much different either, if you exclude tails and using bananas for more than simply eating. Sitting back on his ankles with the woman between his legs gives a pretty good approximation to the favourite monkey position. Holding on to the end of the bed gives a bit of leverage too. Monkeys use this as an opportunity to groom their partner and pick out any fleas or ticks. Being naked apes has a certain advantage.
